Co-Op Program Enables Students To Train For Future Jobs

Training for future work is accomplished through our school district's co-op program. These students, along with many others, compose our future working class. Working during school hours enables these few to gain better jobs or to step into higher positions after graduation. Upon entering the co-op program, students enroll in classes such as Office Occupational Problems and Service Occupations to discuss problems and situations that have to be handled in business.

Many types of jobs are available to co-op students. Being a secretary, sales clerk, dental assistant, or gas station attendant are just some of the choices co-op students are offered.

Although each student has to attend school, he is able to earn some needed money. Sometimes the hours interfere with the student's classwork, but to be a part of the program, one must have respectable grades. Many times, the shortened hours in school prove helpful to the student. Aware that good grades are needed to continue in the co-op program, he tends to use his study time more efficiently and effectively.

People Around The World Can No Longer Be Ignored

Communication has improved tremendously in the past century and this advancement has created a concern for people throughout the world. Since the descendants of many Europeans have settled in the Tri-City area, Granite Cityans are particularly fortunate in having an opportunity to learn firsthand about other nationalities and cultures. In their senior year, South students may study Ethnic Literature and through discussions learn more about ethnic groups from Armenia, Macedonia, Germany, and the Slavic countries. In addition, they read about the Irish, Blacks, Indians, Jews, Puerto Ricans, Orientals, and Chicanos.

Today people are becoming aware of the conflicts in foreign countries and their relationship to events in our own country. Although the U.S. spent its first one hundred years in isolation, this policy of unconcern, of indifference, is no longer feasible. Crises in the Mideast, Europe, South Africa, and China affect our future, whether we think in terms of fuel for our automobiles and homes, of imports and exports, or of military involvement in distant places.

Faces In Sports Constantly Express Our Competitive Spirit

Competition is the basis of our society and of sports. Viewing the Summer Olympics is evidence of our involvement in sports. The summer games also signified turmoil with several African nations and Taiwan withdrawing because of political differences. Dominating men's swimming and boxing, the U.S. won 34 gold, 35 silver, and 25 bronze medals. From St. Louis the Spinks brothers, Leon and Michael, won gold medals in boxing, and Bruce Jenner became the world's best all-around athlete when he captured the decathlon medal.

Locally, the Granite South Warrior soccer team had a super 23-1-1 record going into the state playoffs in Chicago. The Warriors and Coach Gene Baker are maintaining quite a tradition as they have advanced to state competition three of the last four seasons.

After being beaten twice by cross-town rival North in football, the Warriors stunned the Steelers with a 14-10 setback. With the Warrior win, the Granite Rock trophy came to South for the 1976-77 year.

In girls' sports this fall the field hockey team zipped through the sectional, defeating the favored Granite North team, 1-0. To advance to state competition the girls needed to defeat Edwardsville, but their hopes were dashed by a 2-1 loss.

Thus, sports play an important role, not only nationally but also locally, in improving competition and sportsmanship.

Picturesque Scenery Highlights The Face Of The Earth

The faces of the earth experience changes throughout the year. The midwest including Granite City is a perfect example of the changing seasons. We view a rebirth of our surroundings in the spring and a gradual decline during the autumn months. During the winter a slowdown in activities is present, while the pace is quickened in the summer's warmth.

Our life style is dependent upon the face of the earth. This past summer the drought affected our lives considerably. In Madison County the lack of rain caused a twenty-five per cent drop in agricultural production. Farmers without an irrigation system suffered. The water level, dropping well below average has slowed barge traffic on the Mississippi.

A move for conservation and ecology has blossomed in the 70's. Churches and schools in Granite City conduct paper drives on the weekends. This generation is proving their concern over litter by participating in Keep America Clean drives. People believe that the face of the Earth has to be preserved for generations to come.

Nancy Weil escorted by Joe Parente, Maureen Hoedebecke escorted by Brian Konzen, Becky Reeder escorted by Chris Rapoff.

Homecoming Court Pleases Crowd

Homecoming Court was initially selected by the seniors, and later the queen and her escort were chosen by the student body. Connie Hein, 1975 homecoming queen, crowned Lisa Smith, who commented, "Being crowned homecoming queen was a thrill I will never experience again." Her escort was Scott Barunica, who seemed to be continuing a tradition of having Barunicas as kings.

The selection and organization of the homecoming is done through the Speech Department; several speech teachers spend hours tabulating the seniors' votes. Then Mrs. Kambarian was the only person to know the identity of the queen and her escort. With much drama, Mrs.

Kambarian presented the queen with a dozen roses. The attendants were given bouquets matching their gowns. Flowers for the occasion cost over two hundred dollars.

After the play, the court was announced by the formal pages, Susan Welty and Leslie Houser. The pages, Marsha Mainer and Sherri Walker carried the queen's robe.

Even though the court is not aware of who was chosen queen until seconds before they are introduced, a camaraderie existed among all members. After congratulations, hugs and kisses were over, the court met at a local restaurant and enjoyed a celebration dinner.

Miracle Worker Is A Sellout

Mr. Ron Pennell directed the 1976 homecoming play, Miracle Worker, which takes place in and around the Keller homestead in Tuscomb, Alabama in the 1880's. Annie Sullivan, a former blind person, taught Helen Keller language. The plot dealt with the problems Miss Sullivan had to overcome: the sympathy and smothering love of Helen's parents, Miss Sullivan's own guilt of her brother's death, and the control of Helen's actions.

Specific physical traits were necessary for the selecting of the cast. After the cast was chosen, they practiced three afternoons weekly during June and July. Becky Sage, who portrayed Annie, and Lori Voss, who portrayed Helen, rehearsed their fight scene for 180 hours and had to learn the deaf alphabet.

Mr. Pennell chose the Miracle Worker for several reasons. First he wanted students to have experience doing a serious play as well as an opportunity for the community to see this play locally for the first time. In addition, Miracle Worker by William Gibson is read by freshmen. Mr. Pennell commented, "I really can not express my feelings, but this play was very special to me."

Homecoming Parade Attracts Crowd

The 1976 Homecoming Parade, sponsored by the Student Council, was the largest ever staged with over twenty floats. Suggested by Red Peppers, the theme was "Make Warrior Territory Comanches' Burial Ground."

Prizes for first, second, and third place floats were won by the Art Club, Vocal Classes, and Social Studies Club.

The Art Club interpreted the theme differently than any other club by building a dog house with a bone marked Comanche.

Students were dismissed from school at two o'clock to view the parade. Several hundred crowded the football field; others were waiting on the parade route. During half time at the football game, the king and queen, along with the three floats, passed by the grandstands.

Wild Gorilla Is Uncaged In Auditorium

The Gorilla, directed by Mr. Richard King, was the winter play. The plot revolved around three detectives who were searching for the criminal gorilla, not knowing that there was a real gorilla, which had escaped from the zoo. Meanwhile, the other gorilla was kidnapping Sybil Stevens, the owner of the house. At the end the detectives caught the criminal gorilla and realized the real gorilla wanted to be friends with people.

This play was performed to coincide with the opening of the movie, King Kong in December. The cast, which consisted of 19 parts, was chosen by open tryouts. Practices were held four nights each week between two and four hours for six weeks. During the first week the cast concentrated on act one as a unit and then proceeded to act two and act three. The cast worked hard for the opening performance on Wednesday, November 24.

Faculty Presents Arsenic and Old Lace

Arsenic and Old Lace, directed by Mr. Ron Pennell, was the first faculty play since 1972. The play is a comedy involving two elderly women, Abby and Martha, played by Ms. Helen Kuentler and Ms. Beverly Scroggins, who believe they are doing a social justice by poisoning lonely old men.

Tryouts were on a voluntary basis and most of cast had never acted before. The cast practiced during the worst weather ever in January.

Character role highlighted the play: Mr. Chamness as Teddy constantly charged the stairs, Waft Padgett as a detective caught the murderer, Max Forbes as a policeman turned playwright.

Phyllis Weiss, David Culp, and Ann Rich painted the set, spending hours stenciling the wallpaper. Many faculty members donated furniture to make the set look truly Victorian.

Donkeys Assist In Defeat Of North

When the whistle sounded to start the donkey basketball game, the senior lettermen dragged their donkeys to the center of the court to get control of the ball. Rick Fernandez kept his donkey under the basket waiting to receive the ball; and Danny Stanton's donkey walked him up and down the court, while his teammates played basketball.

During the game, the faculty cheerleaders cheered South on to victory over North. Rick Fernandez led the Warrior donkey attack with six points, Mr. Brown scored four, and Joe Parente added two for a total of 12 points. South's defense was built primarily around Mr. Boren's donkey-pulling tactics.

As the seconds ticked off the clock, the South rooters were not the only ones with smiles on their face. The joyous lettermen had guided their team to victory and accumulated over 800 dollars in doing so.

Honor Students Add To South's Reputation

Often honor students don't receive the recognition they justly deserve. To win honors they enter debate tournaments, compete for scholarships, and writing awards.

Four members of the debate class represented South at the state championship again this year.

Bill Metcalf wrote an article that was in Illinois History, a monthly magazine published by the state of Illinois.

The NEDT winners received a certificate for scoring a 90% or better on the nation wide test.

Honor students help build a good reputation for South.

Students Nominate Royalty

The wrestling team selects the queens for the holiday and sectional tournaments. These girls are interested in the sport itself and support the wrestling team throughout the year.

The girls congratulate the top winners and honor them with their medals.

Jim Carmody and Marsha Mainer were elected first King and Queen of Hearts. Student Council nominated students and then the student body elected them.

This year Nancy Bergfield was chosen Miss School Spirit of 1977 by the fall sport teams.

Our Senior Year Is Finally Here

Our senior class, the first in many years to have entered as freshmen, has played a significant role. It is difficult to remember that as freshmen we were directed to the wrong room, ridiculed because of our size, and reminded daily of our immaturity. Now, we direct the helpless freshmen to the swimming pool under the auditorium.

Recently the curriculum has undergone much change, particularly the English program. Juniors and seniors are allowed to select from among several courses that will appeal to them.

Another change involves the smoking area, provided for those who cannot "kick the habit."

All times at South have not been carefree though. We felt sorrow at the loss of Kevin Woods and Jim Kasson, members of our class.

Our years at Granite South have been trying years. We have experienced many changes of ideas, standards, friends, goals and opinions. However, we discovered that South can change to meet the needs of students.

Is There Life After Graduation?

In our senior year we had to make many decisions concerning our future. Whether to marry, attend college, or find a job all require serious consideration.

Representatives from the armed forces and from many different colleges and universities visited our school. After we chose from among several colleges, the endless surge of applications began.

Many students participated in the co-op program which enables them to earn money while attending school. This method of education helps students who plan to work full time immediately after graduation.

Another unique learning experience was the extended campus program. Students attended classes at St. Elizabeth Hospital every morning to master the skills and learn about the duties of medical personnel. This year three different areas were open: operating room technicians, unit clerks, and nurse's aides. Each class was trained in its specific area. At the end of the program, students were awarded certificates recognizing their qualifications in these fields.

Spirit Moves Granite South To Victory

School spirit has been a great asset to South this year. Parachutists jumped the first day of school to arouse spirit. This spirit has been seen throughout the year at pep assemblies when the auditorium was crammed with students and faculty; in fact, many had to stand to cheer our Warriors on to victory. The two most successful football games were Homecoming and the North-South classic. Fans flocked to the games to yell encouragement.

But spirit has been shown many other ways. Student Council collected over $200 for a family whose home was destroyed by fire. The spirit of Christmas was one of giving; the Christmas drive, with a goal of $2,000, was a needed gift for many.

We have learned at South that school spirit is not just boosting a team to victory, but also feeling nostalgic when singing the Alma Mater at graduation as a class united.

Peanut Farmer Wins Close Election

This being election year, our sense of patriotism and citizenship was intensified. Students were often involved in debates concerning the candidates and politics in general.

There was much speculation as the day of the election grew near. Who would win—the unknown peanut farmer from Georgia or the man who pardoned Nixon? Many people were uncertain as to what their choice would be. Was it to be a choice of the best man or the lesser of two evils?

It was a very close race right up to the final minutes, but Jimmy Carter, the first president-elect from the deep South in over one hundred years, emerged victorious.

On November 1, a mock election was held to acquaint students with voting practices and to prepare them for future elections. More than one third of the student body cast their ballots. When the votes were tabulated, Ford was the victor on the presidential slate and Thompson on the gubernatorial. We predicted correctly in the state race but incorrectly on the national level.

Junkoholics Unite And Munch Away

The traveler across the U.S. views not only scenic beauty but also more junk food shops than he can possibly count.

Many of us here at Granite South are junkoholics. We thrive on a diet of whoppers, pizzas, tacos, onion rings and french fries.

To satisfy our lust for such foods, we have frequented several popular hang-outs over the years. The two all beef patties/special sauce/lettuce/cheese/pickles/onions on a sesame seed bun, along with the ten inch "Supreme" pizza, held the lead in the junk food race. In second place is the "have it your way" Whopper, whose popularity is growing.

Without these fast food stores, there would be little excitement in G.C. on weekends. Furthermore, what student could endure for long without his typical nourishment?

Ethnic Students Tempted by Gourmet Meal

On Sunday, December 12, the Ethnic Literature students gathered for a feast. Exotic dishes such as jellied pig knuckles, Greek cookies, and Polish sponge cake tempted the group to overeat.

Tables were decorated with artifacts from several cultures. The Irish were represented by a spittoon filled with candy kisses with a rainbow painted above. The Dutch were portrayed by tulip place mats.

The Negro culture was displayed by a plain black face with no facial features. This was based upon a book some of the students read entitled The Invisible Man. Marvin Moehle brought a collection of costumes and crafts of the Macedonian culture for students to view.

After the dinner, students and teachers learned folk dances. It was a great time for all, and the students were exposed to many different customs and tastes.

Tonight's The Night!

"During class break today a super-looking guy walked me to my civics class, and he mumbled something about our going to see Lynyrd Skynyrd's concert. It took him long enough! I have been 'accidentally' meeting him in the hall, wearing my most flattering clothes and flirting coquettishly for the last three weeks. Now the problem is what to wear."

"I can't believe that I had the courage to ask her and that she said yes. Now if I can only get some spare cash and the car for Friday night. I hope she doesn't leave me alone with her parents to discuss the weather and what time I'll bring her home."

Could It Be Love At First Sight?

I met him in February of my senior year. He was in my English class. I noted his form from head to foot. I researched, considered bibliography, and discovered many interesting facts about him. At first I was indifferent, though occasionally he would accompany me to other classes. In March he even walked me home from school. In mid-April I found myself thinking more and more about him. One night I even went to the library and found him sitting at my study table. We spent the evening together, and by the time the library closed he had my attention completely.

I started thinking seriously about him. We spent several nights a week at the library. He was my steady date, constantly by my side. Though the attraction was strong, I began to grow weary of his taking so much of my time. Our last night together ended at 3:00 a.m. He patiently listened as I pointed out all his faults, those shortcomings which prevented him from being as perfect as I wanted.

The following day my steady date, Term Paper, and I broke up. I did the only possible thing—I handed him in!

Epidemic Threatens South's Seniors

Every spring a disease called Senior Slump reaches epidemic proportions. Not only do seniors experience Monday morning blues, but also Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday-Friday blues.

Seniors concoct some of the wildest excuses for not completing assignments, for arriving at class late, for leaving class early, or for never appearing at all.

Seniors evidently require more counseling than any other group, as they spend countless hours in the guidance office. Others visit colleges, even though they know they will probably attend SIU. Though not all excuses are illegitimate most seniors tend to stretch the truth as the weather grows warmer.

Activities other than studying take precedence. Earlier generations swallowed goldfish or determined how many kids could be crammed into a phone booth; however, our seniors display more originality. Eldon Warfield reveals ingenuity by seeing how many chairs he can stack before the pile collapses. Others find unique places, such as a pitcher's mound, to study.

The slump continues until the week before grades come out. Then a sudden burst of energy overtakes seniors as the scramble for class rank intensifies.

Seniors Finally Get Creamed

During the Christmas Assembly, peals of laughter filled the gymnasium as class officers and selected students struggled through the comical but frustrating events. Tricycle riding demanded skill which seniors, particularly Paul Evans, did not possess. Even with great effort we came in fourth place. We would have finished fifth had it not been for dear Mr. McKeachan who couldn't ride his trike. When the pie-eating contest began though, seniors charged ahead and climbed into third place. Scooter racing was beyond our capabilities after having someone stuff whipped cream into the mouth. Or was it the nose? Placing fourth, contestants were awarded a Three Musketeers bar and received the so-called honor of being plastered with whipped creamed in the face!

The senior class is very proud of the contestants: Mike Allen, Lisa Smith, Kathy Delcours, Rich Rodgers, Paul Evans, Annette Ropac, Kenny Wiesehan and Kathy Small.

Music, It's More Than A Feeling

Music has become a part of nearly all our activities. One can hear it blasting from the speakers of car stereos, adding to the din in the cafeteria, even calming our nerves in the dentist's office.

A jukebox was purchased for our use in the cafeteria by Student Council. There is a wide range of selections from "Beth" by Kiss to Frampton's "Do You Feel Like We Do." Now we can enjoy all of our favorite songs as we eat our lunch.

Concerts have become a very popular form of entertainment. One not only sees and hears his favorite group, he actually becomes a part of the music as it penetrates the very walls of the auditorium.

Dancing is a natural reaction to music. Feet automatically tap with the beat and bodies instinctively sway. In order to keep up with the latest dances, a co-ed dance class was formed. The hustle, bump, and bus stop are just a few that are taught.

"And Now For Today's Headline"

After the Granite South student struggles to open his weary eyes and eats a soggy cereal and dry toast, he seeks his own niche in the halls. There he congregates with his special friends to gossip.

One of the cliques at South consists of the rough football players who rehash the brutal Friday night's games. In addition to analyzing the game, they analyze each girl as she saunters by. Frequently, the girl feels she is being judged on a scale of 1-10.

Across the hall a group of girls gather to compare their weekend dates. Not only do they discuss where they went, but how HE kissed.

In the remote, dark corners of the hall the current lovers embrace. Their gaze is only for each other, disregarding the interrupting world.

When the five-minute bell suddenly rings, the morning news must end. Students reluctantly trudge to their homerooms, hating to end the morning's gossip.

After "Sit On It," What's Next?

Fads have always been a big part of the human race, from fig leaf fashions to monkey toe socks, from the ever popular pet dinosaur to the pet rock, from the sturdy Roman sandal to the comfortable earth shoe. The mini-skirt and long hair disappeared in the early 70's; the short, curly hair and long dresses from the 50's reappeared. The popular sport of mooning exploded in 1974 when people bared all and streaked. Many clichés such as "Peace" and "Try it, you'll like it" have fizzled out. Today we are accustomed to "Plug off" or "Probably didn't get burnt or anything!"

Accessories have changed greatly also. We Americans seem to think big by buying platform shoes with three to six inches of a heel. Purses now can hold twenty pounds of all a girl's worldly possessions such as the new wide-framed glasses, wild strawberry lip gloss, and a conglomeration of odds and ends.

Just as our parents think fondly of bobby socks and crew cuts, we will remember leather coats and painter's pants, and our children will think our fads silly.

How Do You Say Good-bye To A Best Friend?

Many parents were concerned about their children's apparent lack of interest in home life and family relationships. One need brought seniors home in a hurry. It wasn't devotion to their sibling or the product of hours of parental nagging; it was their precious pets.

The conventional goldfish, birds, and dogs appeared in record numbers. Linda French prefers her two cats. On the other hand, some seniors had more exotic pets. Glenda Calvin was devoted to her horse, Danny. He received more than food and shelter; careful grooming and training were also a part of his daily routine.

No matter what kind of pet seniors had, even a pet rock, they adored their faithful friends so much that they became practically human. Judy Domitrovich's monkey, Jiggs, opened a combination lock that baffled others.

Leaving for college means saying good-bye to our favorite friends.

Ever Had A Bad Day In Jeans?

The most valued piece of clothing in a teenager's wardrobe is also the most reliable—jeans. With the assistance of twenty patches, Eldon Warfield wore his jeans for over five years. Unfortunately, his patches wore through, and he had to hang them up.

Realizing the popularity of these products, fashion designers manufactured denim dresses, jumpers, skirts, vests, and purses. But before the actual wear and tear begins, numerous pre-washings occur. To eliminate stiffness a new product, "Soft and Fade," was marketed.

The image of Levis has changed. No longer do only farmers and cowboys wear them, everyone does. Nor are jeans a distinguishing factor between wealth and poverty.

The amazing phenomena was how people could tell "good" jeans from "regular" jeans. Occasions such as dances called for "good" jeans while concerts rated "old" jeans.

South has never kept up with New York's latest fashions, but when it comes to denim wear, every style is visible in the main hall.

Did You Boogie With Your Baby In The Back Row Of The Movie Show?

Movies are still the most popular dating spot even though the ticket price is rather steep. People still flock to see such favorites as "Carrie," "Silver Streak," "The Enforcer" and "Marathon Man."

Girls sighed whenever Robert Redford came on the screen in "All the President's Men," a movie which won the Critics Award for the best movie award.

For couples who can't afford to go to the movies, television is an alternative. Of all the detective shows which dominate the tube, "Charlie's Angels," starring Farrah Fawcett-Majors, was the unexpected favorite of the season. Not only is she seen on TV, but also in boys' wallets, inside their locker doors, on their bedroom walls, and even in the coaches' office.

Television has proven its versatility by airing programs concerning today's problems: drug abuse, teenage runaways, and the increase in crime.

My Name Is Called For The Last Time

"Here I am in my cap and gown dreading the call of my name for fear I might fall. Why is "Z" at the end of the alphabet instead of the beginning? To make it worse Zerrefos is always mispronounced."

"I remember as a freshman I was directed to the old cafeteria to use the elevators and was then twenty minutes late for first hour . . . the time I blew my nose during the homecoming play and all attention went to me instead of the stage . . . as a sophomore, I remember falling asleep in my study hall fifth hour and waking up in a sixth hour senior English class with a test before me . . . when a fire drill went off during the beginning of P.E. and in my rush to get dressed I ended up with one sock on and one sock off. My shoes were on the wrong feet and to add to my embarrassment my gym suit was inside out . . . my senior year was the best . . . some of the best games were played . . . the great Friday nights friends and I spent at "B's" . . . I remember giving blood and then getting up from the cot and tripping over my tube and smashing my blood pack, what a mess! . . . Aramdio Zerrefos . . . Oh no! My time has come. Goodbye Granite South—Hello World!"

JUNIORS

Juniors Begin Year With Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm and ingenuity contributed greatly to the Junior class. Struggling to meet the requirements of history, algebra, health, and chemistry classes, juniors' spirit was sometimes dampened. The juniors, being guided by a first-class group, had much to be proud of. Class officers were elected and worked hard to benefit their class.

By selling candy, the class donated money to the Christmas baskets. The officers organized a junior vs. senior girls basketball game. This united and created more spirit within each class. A teacher's appreciation day was held in honor of Granite South's instructors. Special messages were written and delivered to favorite teachers, commending them on their fine efforts.

Juniors Learn Research Techniques

Late in October the advanced American History classes of Mr. Shatto, Mr. Kasproovich, and Mrs. Schafer visited the SIU library. There the students heard a talk on how to use the library. Then the young historians used the card catalog to find materials for their term papers. Two reasons for visiting the library were that students need to know how to use a large library and that the SIU library has more variety and specialized materials.

Although the students were only there for a few hours, many felt it was a worthwhile field trip. "The main idea was to get us started on our term paper. The hardest part is getting started," stated Janet Sudholt.

Juniors Take PSAT Exam At South

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, a popular test better known as the PSAT, was given throughout the area to see how students rank among similar classes across the U.S. in verbal and mathematical reasoning abilities. It is also considered a trial run for juniors wanting to take the SAT, which is required by many colleges for admission.

To take the exam, students pay $2.75. On October 19, the test was given at Granite South. Each student was given one hour and forty minutes to complete the exam. All students meeting the student eligibility requirements are considered for the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Health Classes Clean Environment

The health classes of Mr. Lybarger, Mr. Patton, and Miss Leach began their program of cleaning up the environment and helping to control pollution. Each student had twenty-six choices to complete the pollution project. Posters, collages, speeches, and research papers were some examples of the types of work each student had to complete.

Each class was divided into groups of four or five so the class could get the feeling of working together. Each group divided twenty-six questions evenly and had ten days to finish the project. Students also spend long hours in the library choosing materials to aid them in their project.

Juniors Join National Honor Society

This year thirty-three juniors have been accepted in the National Honor Society, their initiation will be held on February 1. All students applying had to carry a 4.2 accumulative grade point average, and have three references. After all applications were turned in to Mrs. Cook, a group of teachers and department heads voted for the students excelling in their social activities and academics. Each student having five votes was accepted and received his acceptance letter in homeroom.

Activities new to the juniors will be the bookstore operated in the cafeteria during all lunch hours. The annual literary magazine Touchstone will be issued in the spring. "I feel privileged and honored to be accepted into such a worthwhile organization," commented Tom Hennrich.

Junior Members Get The Job Done

The majority of the junior student council members are involved in the money-making projects. The junior members are Cheska Anselmo, Tammy Keeton, Cindy Zelenka, Becky Sage, Jeff Robinson, Kathy Bailey, Sally Brown, Elaine Eftimoff, and vice-president Larry Heagy.

The juniors' main task is to organize and carry out the money-making projects. Homecoming was a very busy time for the student council booth in the cafeteria. During this time the council sold mums, hats, and buttons for the busy week. The booth is in action all year round through selling tickets to various plays and selling pens, pencils, and notebooks. To celebrate National Popcorn Week, which was held the first week of December, members sold popcorn during all lunch hours.

Juniors are active in the student council and carry out the most important jobs. Becky Sage, two-year council member, says, "This year the juniors put forth a real effort and have achieved the feeling of responsibility."

Juniors Lose In The End

Wally DeShon whizzing on his tricycle to reach the balloons signaled the beginning of competition for the junior class in the assembly, Almost Anything Goes. The assembly was sponsored by the student council members, lasting first and second hours. It was presented as a Christmas present; even Santa and his elves were there.

Junior competitors were Wally DeShon, Tammy Keeton, Barry Briggs, Cheska Anselmo, Lala Anselmo, Rick Willmore, Rick Baggett, and Marcie Little. Each junior contestant wore a blue tee shirt and white shorts.

Although the juniors were leading all other classes, through most of the assembly, sophomores and freshmen came up from behind and sent the junior class to third place, still beating the seniors though. Wally DeShon commented, "My biggest disappointment was not having the pleasure of squirting the seniors with whip cream."

Finals Are A Busy Time

As finals near, days become more hectic and leisure time is filled with cramming for exams. Formulas in algebra and chemistry plague the students; was it  $a+b = a+c$  or  $Ag + O_2 = Ag_2O$ ? Twentieth-Century Writer students try to remember what happened to Charley and his travels and the bunnies adventures in Watership Down. What year was Lincoln elected, was he for or against slavery?

Finals can help in determining students' futures. Juniors now begin applying for their favorite colleges, and bringing up their grade point average is one way to insure acceptance at college.

Commercialism Overtakes South

If there was one thing that South didn't have a short supply of, it was things to buy. Anyone at South with a little extra money had no trouble finding a club with something for sale.

Football gimmicks were the first items on sale, starting with "Rip the Raiders." Each week Red Peppers sold ribbons for 15 cents which were eagerly snapped up by the students, also popular were buttons and hats.

Next to gimmicks, the largest-selling items were foodstuffs. The lettermen started the onslaught, boxes of Reese's Peanut Butter Cups, a tempting treat. Later the Social Studies Club had their annual candy sale with Jolly Rancher Stix's.

Surprisingly, the third big seller was flowers; Homecoming mums and a Valentine's Day flower made a thoughtful gift.

Students who did splurge and who bought something could always explain the extra expense by saying, "I did it for the school."

Secret Pals Decorate Halls with Banners

To instill spirit the Red Peppers initiated a secret pal system. Girls decorated varsity basketball and wrestling players lockers, rooms, cars, and yards with signs, candy, banners, streamers, and balloons. The idea was to keep the boy's spirit at a peak to combat North.

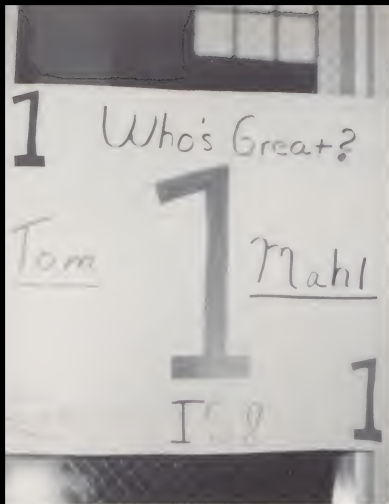

Terri Deterding decorated the hall and Tom Hennrich's locker with footprints, the path to victory. In his locker she placed vitamins in the shape of M&M's for energy and stuffed newspapers with the saying, "Don't mess around with Tom."

Cindy Durborow's secret pal Scott Clement found a trophy in his locker saying, "World's Greatest Wrestler." She also sent many secret pal notes to his classes, and decorated the halls, with "Scott is Number 1." Not only the players enjoyed the signs and messages, but other students scanned the halls looking for the decorations.

Twins Cause Double Trouble

The junior class has an unusual trait that only comes in pairs. There are four sets of twins in the junior class: Connie and Chris Jones, Penny and Paula Gendron, Colin and Brent Feeney, and Gary and Jerry Arnold.

The twins feel that there are some advantages and disadvantages of being a twin. One of the advantages is that twins can often exchange places. In fact, Penny once took her sister's place on a date, and the boy never realized the switch until the evening was almost over. Frequently twins try to fool teachers by exchanging identities.

Sometimes these so-called advantages turn out to be a disadvantage. People spend so much time trying to figure out which twin is which that they never know the true personality.

Sophomores Start With Confidence

Having survived the traumatic experience of being a freshman, the sophomores entered this school year with much confidence. The chaos in the halls of trying to find new rooms did not seem as difficult this year. Sophomores recall memories from their past year and explain the way to the elevator to confused freshmen.

With the issuing of new schedules, sophomores find the required subjects of American Literature, Oral Communications and Consumer Economics listed on their cards. They eagerly await the day when a wider variety of subjects will be available.

Although busy with new classes, several sophomores found extra time to campaign for election of class officers. Campaigns proved successful for Rocky Lupardus, President; Dana Harris, Secretary; Kim Rapp, Vice-President, and Brian Ropac, Treasurer. The sophomore class officers encouraged fellow students to get involved in extracurricular activities.

Sophomores Are Active In Student Council

The sophomore class once again fell into the daily routine of Granite South school life. Electing a new group to serve on Student Council, the sophomore class chose Mary Earney, Twyla Lathrup, Dee Mathenia, Nabeel Razzaq and Brian Ropac to represent them. These students participated in numerous Student Council activities throughout the year, which included selling candy, note cards, pens, Warrior notebooks and hats.

In the Student Council assemblies, the sophomores experienced more satisfaction by having better opportunities to express themselves. They could easily submit ideas directed to the various committees to which they belonged. A popular sophomore committee was Publicity. Informing the student body of all Student Council sponsored events, the committee made posters, kept the bulletin board up-to-date, wrote announcements for the P.A. and informed the High World and Press-Record of all important events.

Driver's Safety Required For License

Sophomores anxiously anticipate the arrival of driver's safety. Smiles printed upon eager faces show a sense of pride and maturity as eligible sophomores saunter into the driver's safety room. For nine, endless weeks, sophomores studied the rules of the road and important traffic laws. They also learned the difference between the turn signal indicator and the gear shift. This proved to be the most common problem with rookie drivers.

Before entering the second phase of driving, safety students were required to attend a minimum of thirty classroom hours. They fully understood the IPDE method, which consisted of Identifying a hazardous situation, predicting what may happen, deciding how to deal with the situation and acting accordingly.

Of all required classes, driver's safety was the sophomores' favorite. Students relaxed and enjoyed the wide variety of films. The realistic scenes encouraged students to drive more safely.

Sophomores Speak Freely In Speech Class

Sophomores shyly stroll into various speech rooms, seeking escape from the required course of Oral Communications. The idea behind the class was to make students feel at ease in public speaking. To do this, students were required to present numerous types of speeches before the class.

The demonstration speech was the favorite among nervous speakers. Demonstrations varied from baking cookies to wiring an electrical outlet. More speaking was required in presenting an informative or persuasive speech. Quivering voices attempted to broaden the knowledge of the class, or persuade them to change their attitude toward a popular subject. The impromptu, being the most dreaded speech, required students to speak unprepared. Teamwork was the key in panel discussions. A maximum of five students worked hard to obtain information concerning a popular subject, such as the abortion issue or the presidential election. The topic was discussed among the panel and was open to questions from other class members.

Sophomores Are Challenged By NEDT

The National Educational Development Test was offered to all interested sophomores. A fee of $1.35 was paid prior to the testing, which was given in February. Sophomores preparing for particular future careers such as engineering or pre-law, took the challenging NEDT.

Students took the NEDT to analyze their progress up to their sophomore year and to determine their abilities in various fields of interest. After completing the test, sophomores were aware of their abilities best suited to specific fields. They also knew the classes in which to enroll if a successful career was to be achieved.

Homerooms Display Christmas Spirit

To promote Christmas spirit at Granite City South, the student council sponsored a door decorating contest. Every homeroom and club was urged to decorate their door or part of the hall in a holiday manner. Winning homerooms received an hour lunch and clubs won up to $20.

Several rooms displayed their spirit with holly and wreaths, while others used the wintery scene approach. Regardless of the style, students seldom escaped the cheery decorations and departed for Christmas vacation in high holiday spirits.

The hard work put forth by the homerooms and clubs was judged by faculty members and commended as the band students and Miss Lichter's homeroom won first place, Art Club members and Mr. Patton's homeroom received second, and GAA/Leadership and Mrs. Bright's homeroom placed third.

Sophomores Capture Championship

The sophomore class squeezed by the four opposing teams to capture the victory title in the Almost Anything Goes contest. The contest was sponsored by student council and presented December 22. The class officers and four volunteering sophomores represented their class and narrowly grasped the victory.

To attain the first place title, the sophomore team began slowly and allowed the juniors to dominate the apple-leap frog and tricycle races. The opponents' victories jolted them into placing second in the gunnysack race and first in the pie-eating contest. In this game one blindfolded contestant fed his partner a whipped cream pie.

Due to equal team talent, a tie breaker was required. In the scooter race, one contestant had to push his teammate to the end of the gym. Providing they didn't fall off, the contestants reversed positions and returned to the starting line. The sophomores again surged forth to win both an hour lunch and the privilege of smearing the losing team with whipped cream.

Sophomores Carefully Chose Class Rings

The great status symbol, a class ring, intrigues most every sophomore. A mass of confusion was encountered when the time to order class rings arrived. Numerous shapes, colors and ensignias stupefied sophomores as they decided the type of class ring to order. Birthstones, black onyx, diamonds, school colors . . . were open selections. Various inscriptions, such as initials, the Warrior emblem, or a favorite sports design were also available. Each sophomore cautiously chose the ring which best suited his taste and one to be valued in later years.

Upon receiving their rings, sophomores proudly compared stones and ensignias with excited friends. They wondered whether their ring selection was wise and finally settled down, contented. As class rings were slipped on fingers and openly admired, sophomores realized their treasures would soon turn to memories.

Sophomores Enroll In Consumer Economics

Consumer Economics enlightened sophomore views toward the vast changes of economy. A sophomore required course, consumer economics, covered a wide range of information on economic issues. The course encouraged students to become aware of varying prices on products such as vegetables, soap powders, clothing and numerous appliances. Purchasing a car involved many difficult steps as sophomores learned to shop more efficiently and investigate vehicle conditions thoroughly.

Other than details of purchasing items, sophomores were introduced to many new terms. Banking accounts, loans, trust funds and bonds were only a few. The highlight of the course was a trip to a local bank. Students toured numerous job locations such as the tellers cage, the vault, the loan department and the bookkeeping rooms and became familiar with responsibilities of each department. Although the course briefly covered many different fields, students gained considerable knowledge concerning the state of our economy.

Junior Achievers Receive Head Start

Many students will benefit in later years from Junior Achievement. Junior Achievement is an outside activity which familiarizes students with the operations of various aspects of business. Students from surrounding areas met once a week for two hours to manufacture their company's product. Each company consisted of eighteen students who sold stock to raise money for needed materials, such as wood for lamps, ingredients for fudge, metal for barbecue grills and paint to decorate products. Each completed product was sold at a set price and profits up to $400 a year were obtained.

The companies were judged on the quality of the goods by men from sponsoring business firms. G.C. Steel, A.O. Smith, Illinois Power, American Steel, the Water Company and First G.C. National Bank were only few of the local sponsors. Junior Achievers were rewarded for their hard work at the end of the year. Scholarship funds were awarded to outstanding members and the largest formal teen-dance in the St. Louis area was held at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn. The greatest benefit for J.A. members was the head start in the business world, enabling them to obtain superior jobs.

Sophomores State New Year's Resolutions

Celebrating the arrival of 1977, sophomores cited resolutions and prepared to start anew. As the year of 1976 faded away, students reviewed the past and faithfully resolved to improve. Resolutions went into action as Star Shemwell resolved to improve her grades, Carol Shevcik promised to lose weight and Mark Ivie embarrasssingly admitted he would gain the courage to ask more girls out.

Many resolutions, being made while attending parties, visiting relatives or viewing a late movie, were broken well within a week's time and soon forgotten. Students who resolved to maintain an unbroken resolution found this the hardest to keep.

FRESHMEN

Girls Sweep September Class Elections

In early September, the freshmen students elected class officers. To run for office, students turned in petitions with twenty signatures of fellow students. The campaign of the candidates consisted of paper pinions and poster making.

After a short campaign period, the candidates awaited the final outcome. Students who were elected as freshmen class officers were Laurie Jones, President; Susan Robinson, Vice-President; Debbie Kelly, Secretary; Barb Muhlenbeck, Treasurer.

Freshmen Evaluate Their Capabilities

From September 20 through September 27, the entire freshmen class took the Differential Aptitude Test. Directly after homeroom a number of freshmen went to rooms 213 and 138, where the test was being given. After Mrs. Kopsky, the counselor giving the test, gave special instructions, the students began work. During the middle of the testing period, the freshmen were given a half hour break for lunch.

As soon as the freshmen were in their seats once again, they resumed work.

The D.A.T. test included sections on speed and accuracy in math, reading skills, and grammar. When the tests were finished, they were sent to the Psychological Corporation in New York so the results could be compared with other tests throughout the nation.

"Don't Be A Peon; Vote For Leon"

An elaborate hoax was perpetrated upon the freshman class by several upperclassmen. To make the freshman class officers' election more exciting, Scott Clement and Brian Beljanski invented Leon Zeblock and started a write-in campaign. Posters with various slogans such as "Don't be a Peon, Vote for Leon," "Don't be a hamhock, vote for Zeblock" and "I'm not too ugly, vote for Leon" appeared in the halls, restrooms, locker rooms, and the cafeteria.

Because of the active campaign, Leon technically won the election. However, in a letter to the High World, Leon explained he could not accept the position because of an accident in which he broke both his legs. He also stated that this accident would not prevent him from running again in next year's election. The letter, paid for by Citizens for Zeblock, appeared in the pot-pourri section of our school newspaper.

Frosh Are First To Win Spirit Stick

To encourage school spirit the cheerleaders developed the spirit stick. The freshmen were the first to win the spirit stick based on their cheering at the Collinsville soccer game.

All the students cheered loudly to boost our Warriors to victory. Since that game, the competition for the spirit stick has increased.

Freshmen Plan For A Future Profession

"Career is Calling," a new program for freshmen, started on September 25. Each freshman study hall gathered once a week for seven weeks in the guidance office. In this program different careers were briefly discussed in order to find out what students were interested in and qualified to do.

At the beginning of the program, each student was given a ditto to complete and then return to the counselor. The ditto included a list of several personal qualities, skills, and activity preferences. These dittos were then compared to each other so students with similar ideas could work together in group activities.

1. Laura Ohanesian and Carol Abbott working on a ditto in "Career is Calling." 2. Amanda Baugh pays attention as teacher lectures. 3. Jeff Trout on his first attempt at timed writings. 4. Charles Kutey takes a make-up test.

G.C.H.S. South Welcomes Newcomers

During the summer freshmen prepared themselves for high school. On Tuesday, August 24, freshmen had their first views of the high school. Orientation Day helped the incoming students adjust to their first few days of school. At the meeting, held in the auditorium, the freshmen received pamphlets discussing policies on the smoking area, on tardies and absences, and on final exams. Copies of the students' schedule cards were handed out so the freshmen could find their classes ahead of time. On the first day of school, August 26, the freshmen learned firsthand what to do in their classes. Freshmen had several required courses to take such as math, science, and English. A new type of study hall began this year so that programs primarily for freshmen could be held. Programs on choosing a vocation and planning the future were conducted in the fall.

Dissecting Worms Intrigues Freshmen

Biology, defined as a science of life and life's processes, is frequently taken by freshmen. Under the teaching of Mr. Pinnell, Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. Rensing, and Mr. Cowan, the students learn about plant structure, cell formation and the theory of genetic composition.

Also with the usage of microscopes and dissecting equipment, students learn about different animal structures. During lab sessions, students dissect such animals as worms, frogs and fish. Under the microscope students view amoebas and protozoans.

After students have completed the two semester course they will continue in the science program.

Frosh Finish Second In Heated Battle

"We'd win if we had a second chance", said Drue Clement, as he and his teammates snatched second place from the juniors and seniors in the assembly of Almost Anything Goes. During a challenging show of talent, the freshmen gave their opponents a hard fight.

The freshmen were represented by Laura Jones, Barb Mühlenbeck, Susan Robinson, Debbie Kelly, Phil Beljanski, Lee Heubner, and Jeff Bergbrader.

Suited in red, the team placed in every competition except the tricycle race. After winning in the scooter race, the freshmen finished second in the overall standings.

Snow Turns South Into Winter Wonderland

Frozen toes and cold hands are a few of the symptoms experienced by high school students during the coldest winter in over a hundred years. During the coldest days, students were hampered by 35 m.p.h. winds and blinding snow. Also over a period of 26 days, the temperature did not rise above 10 degrees.

This winter, however, did not stop many students from enjoying the sports that are associated with snow. After the first snowfall, students began pairing off into groups, and snowball fights were sighted in various places throughout the campus. At first it was fun, and then it became a source of revenge. Another popular winter hobby, sledging, is enjoyed by students during their free time. Most people were found using a variety of sleds from the Canadian toboggan to the American heavyweight trashbag. Another type of enjoyment was bumper riding, where strong arms and coordination were main factors.

No matter how young or how old, most people still enjoyed the simple pleasure of making angels and building snowmen.

Every Freshman's Motto Is Sink Or Swim

Facing many adjustments, freshmen often dread their first year of high school. Not only did freshmen have to become acquainted with new school policies, they discovered that the work was much more demanding and challenging.

Freshmen have few choices in curriculum and follow a basic program of English, math, and science. In the first semester of English, students improved writing skills. During the second semester freshmen were introduced to famous authors and their works such as Julius Caesar or Romeo and Juliet by Shakespeare, The Odyssey by Homer, and Great Expectations by Charles Dickens.

Better study habits must be practiced if freshmen are to succeed. They realized that this is the foundation of their high school career. If they survived the trauma of the freshman year, more than likely they will continue their education with ease.

Freshman Describes Strain Of Winning

In freshman composition, a required course for all freshmen, one of the students' favorite types of themes was the process theme. In this kind of theme, students depict an event or process chronologically. As an example, Scott Buenger wrote, "The apex of this year's high school swimming championship will be the one-hundred-yard freestyle. One must prepare himself physically as well as psychologically for this strenuous event. Knowing that he is in top physical condition, he must plan his strategy prior to the race. After getting the fastest possible start, he may follow one of the two strategies. He may either set the pace of the race, or linger behind the leader and attempt a strong winning finish.

Choosing to hang back, he must time his head movements perfectly, breathing every third stroke, alternating the side from which he breathes. On the second and third laps, he must increase his speed through the water by increasing the number of beats in his kick. Going into the fourth and final lap of the race, the swimmer attempts to complete a perfect flip turn as he surges toward the finish. Coming off the wall, his arms begin to tear with pain and his lungs begin to swell. He must overcome this pain barrier in order to conquer. Nearing the last five yards, he feels as though he can do it and reaches out for victory with long, flowing strokes. Whether he wins or loses, knowing that he has tried his best, he can hold his head high."

... And There Was Chemistry

If you have ever walked by room 238 and seen students playing Chem rummy or heard strange noises (explosions), you may be interested to know that this game, similar to gin rummy, and this experiment with hydrogen gas, are just a few of the techniques teachers use to teach chemistry.

Chemistry is defined as being the study of matter, its forms, changes, and reactions. The course is basically divided into two parts: classroom discussion and lab. Mr. Kenneth Gattung explains, "In the classroom, students learn the basic theories, laws, and principles that make up the science of chemistry and lab permits students to put these principles and laws to actual use. In doing so the student actually learns by experience rather than by hypothetical problems worked out with pencil and paper."

Regular chemistry is an elective course for juniors and seniors who have passed one year of freshman level science. It is also helpful to have had one year of algebra.

To enroll in accelerated chemistry, a student must be a sophomore, junior, or senior, have a previous or a concurrent second year algebra class, have a 3.5 grade point average or better, and receive a permit from Mr. William Rotter, department head. Chemistry 3 and 4 are offered to students who achieved a B average in their first year of chemistry. This course is on the college level where certain days are lab days.

You might ask, "What good will this course do me?" That question has many answers. Occupations are plentiful for a person with a chemistry background. Fields that use chemistry are medical, engineering, and pharmaceutical.

Brush Up On Your Creativity In Art

Advanced art provides a means of self-expression and creativity.

Students spend more time on painting but some ceramic sculpture is done. The students learn about elements, composition, color theory and mixing, and the process of oil painting.

Advanced art is offered to juniors and seniors who have completed Art 1 through Art 6. Students are required to make a copy of a master's painting, an abstract, a large clay unit with a partner, a silk screen project, a knife painting, a project of the student's choice, with the teachers approval, and an impressionistic copy or technique.

Grading proves to be difficult. According to Mrs. Weiss, "It's the hardest thing in being an art teacher." The students are graded according to their ability, how difficult the job is, the amount of effort the student puts into it, and how much progress he shows.

This art course develops a background in painting and provides a hobby for the rest of one's life. It also assists in getting a commercial art degree or teaching art.

Unusual experiences occur quite often in this class. Once Mrs. Weiss was making Ruebben's Glaze, a mixture of one-third bee's wax, one-third turpentine, and one-third damar varnish, which is very flammable. The mixture got thick and started to boil. Before long it was burning and black smoke and flames were beginning to pour out. Mrs. Weiss quickly, with asbestos gloves on, threw the whole thing out the window. As a result the entire room was black including the students and herself.

Aprons On Guys? Only In Senior Foods

"If you haven't had this class, you've missed out," stated class member Shawn Gasparovic. Senior foods covers everything from the correct direction to pass food to how to stuff a turkey.

The elective course is offered to any senior boy or girl who has not had any foods classes except a first semester foods class. The only other requirement is that the student wants to learn and have fun at the same time.

Meal planning, principles of good nutrition, measuring, naming equipment, how to set a table, and basic manners are some of the topics covered during the semester.

During the first semester the seniors participated in two major activities. Ms. Donna Cantrell demonstrated how to stuff a turkey while each kitchen, a group of four students working together, fixed one dish. They all ate together to make this activity a successful Thanksgiving dinner. The second event is called a guest meal. Each kitchen planned and prepared a complete dinner and then invited a teacher to share the meal with them.

Ms. Cantrell concluded, "Senior foods is a very rewarding class to teach."

Office Machines Class Adds Up Skills

Office machines is a practical course for a person who wants an office job. In addition to typing and steno skills, he learns how to use several different kinds of machines. Students learn how to operate printing calculators, display calculators, ten key adding machines, transcribing machines, and duplicating machines. All of these above skills apply toward specific business transactions.

Junior and senior girls as well as boys who have had a minimum of two semesters of typing (preferably three) and made average or better grades are permitted to take office machines. A maximum of twenty students can be in each class.

Every student gets to be an office manager for one week during the semester. This involves taking attendance, greeting any visitors who might come in the room, running errands, and checking out materials such as stencils, cassette tapes, ditto masters, and instruction guides.

The office machines course equips the student with the skills required for any office job. Not only does it qualify him for a job, but also gives him a better chance in getting one. In addition, such skills as handling a calculator can be used for personal benefit.

Working Behind The Scenes Is Stagecraft

Stagecraft involves learning and performing skills like scenery, lights, sound, programs, tickets, props, microphones, and building sets. The students in stagecraft operate all programs in the auditorium including any outside group or any high school oriented group. They also handle Homecoming, the Follies, the Children's Theatre Play, banquets, assemblies, activities held in the gym except sports, any other plays, and all of Granite City North's programs. In essence, they cover all productions at GCHS South throughout the year.

The students are graded on a point system. Three points are received per hour worked. A student must earn three hundred points for an A. Most go far beyond three hundred points which proves there are ample chances to gain these points. One-fourth credit is given for this hour long class.

To enroll in advanced stagecraft a student must have completed oral communications and beginning stagecraft. In beginning stagecraft, he must have made an A and once in the advanced class, he must maintain that A to stay in.

Advanced stagecraft could develop careers in carpentry, electricity, house painting, art and design, business practices, and now and then one of the many jobs in the technical theatre.

Stagecraft students learn to be trustworthy, responsible, mature, and dependable. They also learn working as a team as well as individual efforts, knowing if one person doesn't fulfill his duties, the whole program will suffer.

Stagecraft is both academic and practical.

Electric Students Conduit, Can You?

Conduit bends are a preliminary factor in vocational electrics. The idea is to take a piece of pipe and bend it into an odd shape. If a student doesn't complete this task, he doesn't expect to pass.

In their junior year, students begin this two year two-hour a day course. Two days of the week are spent in class listening to lectures, while the other three days are used working in the shop.

Only juniors and seniors are allowed to take vocational electrics, but students who start as seniors are discouraged. Algebra, one semester of Unit Electrics 2, and vocational measurements would all be helpful preceding this course. Students from both South and North take it, and girls are allowed to but none have signed up as yet.

Conduit bends, basic AC and DC theory, current and direct current, house wiring, circuits, and motor maintenance are some of the topics studied in electrics. During the last nine weeks seniors are permitted to study unit air conditioning.

Vocational electrics prepares students for an apprenticeship of a career in electricity, develops skills and knowledge required for trade school or junior college, provides post high school recreation and further develops acceptable, and desirable work habits.

Wiring and air conditioning will be installed by the electrics classes in the house built by the building trades classes on Bermuda Lane. Not only does this work offer a better education, but it is also a practical use of what is learned in the classroom.

Students Impatiently Await Blue Slips

"Oh no! What do I do now? That truck just pulled out from nowhere!"

Driver Education, a consecutive course, is made up of nine weeks of driver safety and nine weeks of driver training. Driver training is composed of two days of simulators and two days of behind the wheel, which is driving in a special student-driver car.

Driver safety is a classroom course teaching students the basic "Rules of the Road" to enable them to be safe and law abiding drivers. A student must have at least thirty days or thirty clock hours of this class. Driver safety is required by the state of Illinois but the student is not required to pass it in order to graduate from high school.

Behind the wheel, an optional course, covers every normal phase of driving. Simulators are used in conjunction with behind the wheel to accumulate the six hours of needed driving time. Two thirds of the six hours (approximately four hours) are spent in actual driving and the remaining time is used in simulators.

To receive a permit a student must be at least fifteen and a half years old (preferably sixteen). He must also pass a vision test and a written examination plus pay a fee of eight dollars.

Twice every year, driver education students experience the comfort of new cars. Four cars are purchased each time, all the latest models. One of the cars is shared with North in case an emergency would occur such as a dead battery, or a flooded carburetor. All cars are equipped with an extra brake on the instructor's side of the car, which can be easily installed and removed.

Principals' Responsibilities Are Many

A school our size needs more than one principal to insure that the school runs smoothly. Mr. Dumont, along with four assistant principals, helps to carry out the purpose of our school, to educate students. Recommending a school budget through the central office is one of his more difficult jobs. Discipline problems are sometimes brought to Mr. Dumont when parents are not satisfied with the previous handling of the problem. Mr. Dumont makes the final decisions on all policies.

The assistant principals control the general operation of the school. They are responsible for the care of the buildings and equipment. Mr. Jones oversees the guidance department, arranges for substitute teachers, and admits new students. To admit a new student Mr. Jones must first determine whether the student lives in South's boundaries. The next step is to have the student fill out an admittance form and pay the book rental. He then sends him to Miss Nelson for a schedule assignment.

This year Mr. Kennerly assumed responsibilities for all data processing. Mr. Spalding was in charge of the custodians, attendance, and the parking lots. Mr. Leavell spent a half day at North and a half day at South. He helped with any discipline problems that arose.

Headlines Form Basis Of Course

"The Social Science department attempts to make students aware of the world around them with the goal that they will participate in our system of government," commented Mr. Phillip Shatto.

Foreign Policy appeals to some students because it is offered three days a week and uses the seminar approach. The students may then either take a study hall or Current Events. By conducting mock United Nations sessions students discuss topics of global concern such as the Korean War and the Vietnam War.

In Current Events students examine headlines from a variety of newspapers which express a wide range of viewpoints. Students become familiar with such names as Cyrus Vance, Walter Mondale, and Barbara Jordan.

To those with high mathematic achievement slide rule is offered. Numerical computations are studied by using the slide rule and calculators.

Trigonometry and college algebra are offered to the college-bound student who wishes to expand his knowledge of math.

Teachers Attend English Conventions

To improve teaching techniques and learn about new materials Mrs. Cook and Miss Veloff attended the state convention at Carbondale. Over Thanksgiving vacation Miss Kuenstler and Mrs. Hormell attended the National Council of Teachers of English in Chicago. These teachers devoted a weekend to attend meetings so that others in the department may benefit from their experience.

Four hundred and twenty-five new books entitled Warriner's English Grammar and Composition were ordered for the senior composition course this year at a cost of almost $3,000. These books cover the term paper more completely. Since the term paper is a major requirement in the course, these books should be helpful.

Pamela Bischof transferred from North this year and Diane Nelson returned from maternity leave.

Business Ed Offers Practical Courses

If an employer asks a student whether he has any experience, a Granite South student can respond favorably since the business department offers many practical courses. One of the more useful classes, clerical practice, teaches the students daily office routines. Filing, answering the telephone, and learning proper procedures of a job interview are some of the necessary skills of an office worker.

Office machines and secretarial training are also helpful. Office machines teaches the student how to operate calculators, adding machines, and transcribing and duplicating equipment. Students learn just what the secretary's job involves. An important feature of this class is that it includes job finding techniques.

Librarians Assist Students In Research

Hourly attendance, signing and sorting of slips, and keeping the library quiet and orderly are a few of the librarian's daily jobs. Each hour the slips must be signed and divided. They are kept all semester as records for the finals policy.

Teachers often bring in classes for instruction on the library. When assisting students with research problems, Mrs. Harmon uses the quote, "The right book for the right student at the right time." Clippings of inexpensive materials may be found in the vertical file. A.V. soft ware such as films, records, and tapes are kept in the library.

The librarians must also take inventory, type and file cards, get the books ready to shelve, and organize the library obligation list. The main responsibility of the librarians, however, is ordering books and stocking the shelves with new and useful books.

This year the science department gained two new teachers; Beverly Frazier who previously taught in the social sciences department, and Beverly Postor who is new to this school.

Practical Skills Taught In Classes

Basic clothing construction, food management, and housing and home furnishings are just a few of the courses the Home Economic department offers. Needlecraft is designed to teach students how to smock, quilt, and monogram. Another interesting course is family living. In this class, students will learn such things such as how to get along with others, courtship, and how to build a successful marriage.

Health is required for all students. A few of the topics studied are mental and personal health, diseases, nutrition, and disaster survival.

Leadership, a class in the Physical Education department, includes techniques of group dynamics, sports officiating and recreational leadership. The class meets every day for a half hour. Regular physical education classes are also offered.

Oral Interpretation Gives Children's Play

"We're growing," commented Mr. Ron Pennell, head of the speech department. More students are enrolling in advanced speech classes. In addition to sponsoring three major productions, the department also hosts the Illinois High School Association.

This year the oral interpretation class chose a children's theatre production entitled The Golden Grotto or Bracko The Frog Prince. The class attempts to provide a public service for elementary school children by introducing them to the theatre, some for the first time. No charge was made to children.

The faculty play was reinstituted this year. For three years there was no faculty play because of the burning of the auditorium in 1972. Arsenic and Old Lace had a cast drawing from many departments.

The Developmental Studies department acquired two new teachers this year, Deborah Plummer and Richard Lucido. Sheryl Evans and Walt Padgett were added to South's faculty as counselors.

Staff Helps Run School Efficiently

Over 1,010 plate lunches, 1,043 ala cartes, and 238 sandwiches are prepared daily for consumption by our student body. Not only do the students drink about 1,968 cartons of milk a day, they devour 21 cases of french fries, with each case weighing thirty pounds. The most popular meals are mighty moes and poor boys; one of the least popular is hot dogs, rather surprising considering the amount sold in local stores.

Another aspect of running our schools is custodial work. Custodians are responsible for keeping the halls and rooms clean, and maintaining the heating and water systems. The custodians have three shifts; days which receives freights, and afternoons and midnights which clean up. There are two outside men who take care of the athletic fields, two matrons, one janitor for the annex, and one for the gym. There are three firemen, one for each shift.

Each secretary has a different job. For example, Mrs. Roney handles the money, Mrs. Hatscher runs the bookroom, and Mrs. Mercer takes care of the grades and transcripts.

Mainly the campus monitors' job is to supervise student traffic on campus and help students when needed. They also patrol the halls, both parking lots, and keep off trespassers.

South Beats North In Classic Grudge

Defeating North was the climax of the Warrior football season. It was a milestone set at the beginning of the season, and it was reached when South diminished the Steelers' hopes of going to state, 14-10. The first victory over North was led by Cliff Moran's two touchdowns.

South soared to a homecoming victory over Cahokia, 21-20 for their first victory of the season. Cliff Moran again led the Warrior attack with an outstanding 3 touchdowns, 239 yard rushing performance. Moran rushed for 2 touchdowns and caught an 18 yard pass from quarterback Keith Champion.

This year the Warrior players honored their fathers before the game and then made them proud by squeezing past Collinsville, 28-27. South emerged on scoring plays of a 5 yard pass to Tim Anderson from Keith Champion and a goal line plunge by Jay Heubner. Two field goals by Tim Kirksey and a seven yard dash in overtime by Cliff Moran ended a dramatic game, that was highlighted by Danny Stanton blocking Collinsville's extra point, on the last play.

Cliff Moran and Jay Heubner dominated the rushing statistics. Moran gained 630 yards in 159 attempts for an average of 4 yards per carry and scored 5 touchdowns. Brute power gained Heubner 254 yards in 76 attempts, mostly in crucial situations, for an average of 3.3 yards per carry. The 6'2", 220 pound fullback found pay dirt 3 times this season and was the instrumental blocker for many of Moran's gains.

Depth was not an asset to the Warrior football team this year, since many players had to play both offense and defense. Dan Stanton, Keith Champion, John Bogosian, Mark Hartman, Paul Evans, Tim Anderson and Cliff Moran were all on double duty throughout the entire season. The defensive squad was aided by six fumble recoveries by Kevin Wilson.

Kickers Bring State Crown Home To South

Fifteen records were set or tied in the Illinois State Soccer Tournament as the Warriors captured the State Crown.

The first step for South in winning the state title was defeating Lake Forest 1-0 in sudden-death overtime. In semi-finals, the Warriors defeated Highland Park, 2-0. In the finals, the Warrior kickers were pitted against Wheaton Central, South emerged victorious, 4-0.

The Warriors not only won the tournament, but they broke 4 records in winning the championship game. It was the second time a Granite City team has won state. The kickers were not scored upon in the state games and allowed the fewest goals. South compiled 4 goals, most in a championship game; most goals in a season; the best record ever among state champions; 26 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie.

Soccer Warriors Given Credit For Skills

Individual honors were received by Warriors at state. Mark Goldschmidt, for the second year in a row, and Rick Fernandez were voted All-State and David Goldschmidt was cited on the All-Tournament team. Ken Prazma and Rich Becherer received Most Valuable Player Awards in the tournament. Coach Baker was awarded Coach of the Year, voted on by Illinois state soccer officials and coaches.

"Winning state was an emotional experience," stated Coach Baker at the reception Sunday, November 14, held in the gym.

The Warriors were met at Route 203 by the police, a fire engine, and a group of devoted fans and were escorted to South High School where they were greeted by hundreds of emotional fans.

Standouts Explode With Impressive Season

The kickers paved their way to the state championship and ended the season with a 23-1-1 mark. Barry Briggs had 18 shutouts in the 23 victories which proved him to be one of the best goalies in this area.

Along with a tough defense, the Warriors were aided by an overpowering offensive attack. Rick Fernandez, Mark Goldschmidt and David Goldschmidt were three of the most prolific scorers in the state. Rich Becherer and Rick Fernandez tied a school record with 20 assists. Fernandez tallied 24 goals while Mark Goldschmidt slipped 19 goals past his opponents. Meanwhile, brother David tied the record for most goals in a season with 33 scores.

South was also gifted with one of the area's top freshman players, Jack Burnett. Burnett balanced the Warrior team and played a solid defense throughout the season. The Warrior defense allowed only 13 goals while the offense smothered their opponents with 128 goals.

South Takes Their 20th District Tourney

The Warrior grapplers demonstrated various styles of wrestling this season. Many of South's matmen concentrated on scientifically wearing down their opponents, setting them up for a pin. Rocky Lupardus, Mark Naglich, Kevin Wilson and Barry Forshee were highly talented at the art of pinning their foes.

"I enjoy wrestling more when at the end of the match I hear the referee slap the mat signalling a decisive fall over my opponent," stated Mark Naglich.

Along with compiling a 22-2 season, the Warriors continued their astonishing wrestling dynasty by capturing the Holiday Wrestling Tournament and the District Championship. The matmen of Granite City have now won the Holiday Tournament eight times in the sixteen years of the tourney. In fact, South defeated the Riverview Garden Rams, the Missouri State Champions for the last two years, in the Holiday Invitational.

But even more breathtaking, the Warriors won their twentieth District Tournament in a row. South's grapplers are the only ones to ever win the District Tournament.

Seven Matmen Advance to Sectionals

During the season, South's matmen handed Cahokia their lone loss of the season, 24-20.

Individual honors were won by wrestlers who were consistent winners. Jim Carmody, undefeated during the season, and Kevin Wilson won both Holiday and District titles.

Wally DeShon and Darrell Hasty each advanced their seasons by winning in District and taking second in the Holiday grapple. Mark Naglich, undefeated in regular season, won the Holiday and finished second in the District.

Dave Gaines won the District and Barry Forshee finished second in both the Holiday and the District tournaments.

Wally DeShon and Dave Gaines captured first place in the Sectional Tournament as South finished, as a team, in third place. Kevin Wilson and Jim Carmody also advanced to state by finishing second in the Sectional. This was the best finish in Sectionals in two years.

Momentum Gives Warriors Confidence

Momentum rifled the Warriors into an explosive start as the South five captured second place in the Bridgeport Tournament. This impressive start encouraged the cagers and inspired their attitude with confidence.

Leading the team in most categories and scoring almost half of the team's points, Terri Angle was lost a month and a half with mononucleosis. This put the burden on John Slay, captain, and Tom Hennrich. Sophomore Jeff Parker was brought up to compliment the ball handling of Hennrich. Surprisingly, Parker exhibited fine defensive skills desperately needed to help out his teammates.

The Warriors changed South's attitude towards basketball this season. Displaying some good sound basketball, the team added some excitement and enthusiasm to the crowd by running with the ball. Tom Hennrich led the cagers on the fast break with John Slay, Greg Feigl and Dave Rhodes all profiting from running.

Hard work, good attitude and belief in themselves were the key factors to the Warrior season. The corner has been turned and the future program is encouraging.

Scorers Carry Cagers Through Season

Excitement was added by individual standouts. Terry Angle averaged around 19 points per game during the regular season. John Slay finished the season strong and ended up averaging about 15 points. The scoring attack from the ball handlers came from an explosive catalyst, Tom Hennrich scoring around 10 points every game.

Talent on all levels of the basketball program will be returning next year. Assisting Tom Hennrich, Terry Angle and Jeff Parker next season will be juniors Tom Mahl, Jay Heubner, Dan Manoggian and Larry Heagy.

South is training to improve their jumpers for the future. Rebounding has been weak the past few seasons, but it did improve this year. South's cagers hope to rebound into another successful season next year.

Harriers Take Four Of Five Dual Meets

Dual meets proved to be the strength of the Harriers as they compiled an impressive 4-1 record this season. The runners were gifted with one of the best freshman athletes in this area, Dave Houston.

The squad was hurt when two lettermen chose to play football and the only senior letterman, Glen Ahlers, broke his foot.

Top performers were Ken Meagher, Jim Dumont, Dave Blackwell, and Dave Taylor. Along with being a valuable runner, youth is in the favor of freshman Dave Houston. "I think that in Dave Houston, we have one of the finest freshman runners in the area," stated Coach Dick Harmon.

Next year's team will have many runners returning. If the Harriers avoid injuries, the team should be very successful.

South Sets Record At Arlington

Finishing second in the Granite City North Scramble was the highlight of the golf season. The golfers missed winning the tournament by one stroke. Al Collins and co-captains, Bob Crawford and Jim Cedor broke the record for a three-man team on the front nine at Arlington Golf Course with a five under thirty-one.

Leading the team with an overall average of 42.5 per nine holes and a tournament average of 84.3 per eighteen holes was Ben Brown. Brown also finished tied for 14th out of 105 golfers in the Springfield

Southeast Tournament.

Freshman, Bob Filer, had three rounds under 40 in a row: Springfield Southeast Tournament, Collinsville, and Belleville, Althoff.

Next year's burden will rely on Ben Brown and Dutch Schroeder. This year as a sophomore, Schroeder finished with an average of 45 per nine holes and led the team twice this season with lowest scores.

This year's varsity lettermen were Brown, Cedor, Crawford, Collins, Filer and Schroeder. Kevin Romine received a Junior Varsity Award.

Girls Finish Second In Sectional Tourney

Teamwork was the key to the girls' field hockey team as it ended its 1976 season with an 8-4 record. South placed second in the Illinois high school sectional competition, losing 2-1 to Edwardsville.

While working their way up through the sectionals, the girls beat North, 2-1. South's win came on a penalty shot in a second overtime period after regulation play ended in a scoreless deadlock.

Scoring the winning goals for South were Angie Mosby and Debbie Barnes. Letting North get only 1 goal past her was goalie Mary Livingston.

The toughest games of the 1976 season were against Springfield East at Springfield and against cross-town rival North.

"The girls lost both of these matches, but these were the best games the teams played," said Ms. Dorothy Mitchell.

"For next year's team we will have to start rebuilding since eight seniors will be leaving," continued Ms. Mitchell.

IHSA Districts 2nd place

Girls Swing Into Successful Season

Playing an important part in the success of the girls' tennis team were junior Theresa Hayes and senior Melody Roseman, each winning 9 and losing 5.

Eighty-one matches were played by the South netters, winning 48. South finished in second place with 11 points in the IHSA Districts; taking first was Belleville East with 14 points. The racketeers finished their season with a 48-32-2 record. Since two games were called because of darkness, the girls split the sets.

Height Handicaps Cagers Talents

Inexperience and lack of height have plagued the girls' basketball team this year; over half the team is composed of girls with no previous basketball playing experience. Lack of height has also been a problem. Kathy Becherer and Paula Wise are South's tallest players at 5'8". Not hitting the offensive boards was one of the downfalls of this year's season.

The team has two returning letter winners: senior Donna Macios and junior Carla Knezovich. Donna Macios, who serves as the varsity captain, is the team's leading scorer, averaging 15 points per game. Other varsity players include senior Ruth Geggus and Paula Wise, junior Mary Livingston and sophomore center Kathy Becherer.

"Most of the girls are underclassmen, so this year is proving to be a rebuilding year," stated Coach Yates.

Girls Spike Through Successful Season

Senior experience carried the success of a 13-4 finish by the South girls. The season was halted in the sectionals by Belleville West, but not before the spikers captured the District Championship by defeating Wood River.

Donna Macios and Tammie DePew were the backbone of the team. DePew and Macios proved to be a most explosive duo as DePew would set the ball up for Macios's morale sparking spikes. Debbie Barnes, Laurie Dochwat and Karla Foote added leadership and spirit to enrich the team. The success of the team was the result of teamwork throughout the season.

Teammate Earns Highest Average In Tournament

Even though South's bowlers were eliminated in the first round of the districts, Vickie Spurlock not only lead South's team, but also outscored other teams with a 210 average.

South hosted the District Tournament with Cahokia winning and advancing to bowl for the state title, and North followed placing second in the districts.

The girls practiced three days a week after school. Mrs. Picard coached the girls in form and follow-through.

Trainers Keep Taping Along

Hidden behind the scenes of all athletes are the trainers. The trainers tape and take care of all injuries sustained by the athletes. Along with taking care of the athletes, the trainers also assist the coaches. Organizing equipment is one of the many jobs done by the trainers. The people behind the scene also run errands and set up facilities before all sports events.

Trainers put in long hours. They are ready before all practices and games and never leave until the athletes are finished.

ORGANIZATIONS

Girls Give Up Their Free Hours To Work

Many girls give up their free hours to work in the Attendance Office, Main Office, or Guidance Office. They help the secretaries with the small trivial tasks such as answering the telephones, taking messages to the students and faculty, collecting absentee slips, giving information to those who seek it, and sorting and sending out the mail. No credit is given, but the girls do receive the experience of office work. Working with the faculty and administration is found enjoyable.

Students Staff Resource Centers

The library is a useful aid for research projects. Even though the size of South's library is a handicap, the functions and workers are above par.

This year the Student Council had proposed to set aside money to refurbish and add to the comfort of the reading area. This improvement along with the advancement in equipment through the past few years has provided the students with a satisfactory place to study.

Mr. Albers, in charge of Audio Visual, organized all the films that the teachers ordered. Two students every hour were taken out of study hall to help in Audio Visual.

The students prepare films as well as transport projectors to different rooms. They are also responsible for any movie shown in the auditorium on Freshman Cinema Days.

Back To School Party Kicks Off The Year

To induce membership, G.A.A. has a back to school party every year. There were several other parties given throughout the year also. Some of the parties were special occasions such as Daddy Daughter Date Night. Fathers and daughters participate in games and then later have refreshments.

Playday was held for eighth grade girls from the local junior high schools.

Some of the money making projects were a raffle and the sale of candy after the Christmas holidays. The money was used to send several girls to a convention and a trip for the entire group.

Leadership Club Serves Community

Leadership girls are constantly busy planning, working, and having fun! Besides working with counselors on schedules, registering parents during American Education Week, and helping to collect book rental, they also held a "work day" when each girl did odd jobs for the minimum wage.

Each Christmas the girls "adopt" a needy family. They raised money to buy each child the gift he most needs and the gift he most wants.

This year Leadership sponsored a dance. The dance, along with other money-raising projects, paid for their annual "out-door education" trip to Trout Lodge.

Lettermen Plan An Active Year

This year the Lettermen's Club came under new leadership. Coach Patton, the new sponsor, worked with the newly elected officers to plan the year's activities. The boys kicked off the '76-'77 year by selling Reese Peanut Butter cups. Other moneymaking events included selling Halloween insurance and holding the annual North-South Donkey Basketball game. Their goal is to raise enough money to finance a weekend trip in the spring.

Lettermen heralded the Christmas season by caroling. Jolly choruses of Jingle Bells, Deck the Halls, and Ole St. Nick, drifted across local neighborhoods. After singing, members warmed up at the Barrel while devouring a bountiful supply of pizza creations.

Redecorating the athletic room to make a lounge for the coaches and team members was another of the year's endeavors. Lettermen planned to finance the job with the profits of their annual raffle.

Girls Prepare For Future Careers

The Future Secretaries of America attend monthly meetings featuring special guest speakers. Bank presidents, stenographers, business executives, and clerical receptionists volunteer their time to talk to the girls. They offer advice on seeking jobs, and what to expect from these jobs. The year was highlighted by the annual initiation of new members.

Girls who have an interest in homemaking enjoy the extracurricular activities of the Future Homemakers of America. One of the most enjoyable activities of the year was the Christmas party. The girls prepared the refreshments and planned games, such as "Pass the Lifesaver" and "Pop the Balloon."

Social Studies Club Holds Mock Election

The Social Studies Club sponsored a mock election this fall with President Ford defeating Jimmy Carter by a narrow margin. Club members worked as election officials and counted the ballots.

Candy and citrus fruit were sold again this year to raise money for a trip during the spring break.

In an effort to clean up the school, club members were given one work point for each two hundred wrappers they collected.

A guest speaker from the Madison County Attorney's office discussed the duties and responsibilities of that office

Science Club Visits Chicago Again

Enjoying science is the only requirement necessary to be a member of the Science Club. Some of their money making projects this year were a bake sale, paper drive, a dance, pancake breakfast, and the sale of license plates. The money that was earned was used for trips to the IBM Company and another trip to Chicago.

Art Club's Float Wins First Place

The Art Club consists of students who are interested in art and are in an art class. The sponsor, Mr. Culp, stays after school to help students on art projects. An interesting project was making pottery with a pottery wheel. The Art Club's float won first place in the homecoming parade as the most original float.

A member of an eleven school Southern Illinois Chess League, the Chess Club competed in inter-scholastic meets every week. Under the supervision of Mr. Elvin Hockstra, the team of twenty members practiced once a week.

The team defeated such high-ranked teams as Mascoutah and Lincoln of East St. Louis.

Spanish Club Enjoys Mexican Cuisine

To raise money the Spanish Club had a bake sale, sponsored a cake contest and sold Warrior ink pens again.

The year was highlighted by a trip to a Spanish show and eating in a Mexican restaurant.

This year the Photography Club provided a picture-taking service for the student body. Sign-ups were taken in the cafeteria during lunch hours. Club members took the pictures, developed the negatives, and printed the pictures themselves.

New members were taught to use the club cameras and a darkroom demonstration was held to show how to develop negatives, and print or enlarge pictures.

The darkroom was used by club members throughout the year.

Red Peppers Promote School Spirit

Red Pepper members have continually been responsible for initiating the abundance of school spirit. They encourage attendance at all athletic events, promote our athletes, and further a sense of unity throughout the student body.

This year the club held a record number of Pep Rallies. Entertainment at the gatherings included several comical skits, enacted by the Feeney brothers. Two favorites included "The Great Houdini" and "The Lone Feeney."

Other activities included decorating the hallways, sponsoring buses to away games, designing and distributing game programs, proclaiming Color Days, cosponsoring a dance and decorating the boy's locker room prior to important games.

Speech Club Helps Organize Homecoming

Organizing Homecoming every year is the major task of the Speech Club. They plan for the play, crowning, and dance. Buttons and shakers were sold to increase the school spirit at the Homecoming activities.

The proceeds went to the Speech Department activity fund, which provides the money needed to go on speech and debate tournaments. The fund also pays for food and rooming.

For The Debators, Arguing Pays Off

The debate team's general topic this year was criminal justice. One of the topics under that category was should penal reform be established in the United States.

The team received high honors throughout the year and qualified for the twelfth state tournament in six years. Some of the hosts were Eastern Illinois University, University of Illinois, Bradley University and SIU—Carbondale.

Harmony Means Working Together

The Vocal Department offers hundreds of students the opportunity to develop their musical talents and perform at various community events. The department consists of seven different choirs; each specializing in a certain type of music.

Music is the only course in school where a group of students get together and willingly accept the direction of one person. It is a unique learning situation since other classes encourage individualism.

This year Madrigals held a bake sale at Kozyak's supermarket to raise enough money to purchase coordinating outfits.

And The Band Plays On

Participating in many of the school activities this year was the Granite City High School South Warrior Band, which was directed by Mr. Terry Wafler.

Students may have seen the stage band play ensembles for homecoming and certain plays, the marching band who plays in parades and sport activities, and the entire band which plays in concerts that are given throughout the year. This year a different type of concert was given. Accompanying the band department during a concert was the vocal department who sang along with the instrumental selections.

When Mr. Wafler feels that his students are prepared well enough for competition, many of the band members attend seminars and contests in which they always do well in, frequently placing.

Many of the senior members that will be missed by their fellow members are Beth Potillo, Brad French, and John Muich.

Student Council Is Most Active Group

Student Council sparked many new and innovative activities this year. One of the most creative and successful ventures presided "off-council" student members. These new members sold stationery and assisted in other council activities.

Other original activities included a blood drive, joke week, a "pluck a turkey" day, National Popcorn Week, and a sky-diving routine to herald the reopening of schools.

Much of the credit for the vigorous planning and work necessary for these activities belongs to the leadership, Mr. Brooks, a novice but enthusiastic sponsor, and Tamara Terrell, the energetic president.

Quill And Scroll Becomes More Active

Quill and Scroll is a nationwide organization for high school students interested in journalism. A requirement for the organization is a 4.2 accumulative grade point average and an outstanding student in either the school's yearbook or newspaper's functions.

This year's members were more involved with activities. They helped prepare for a district conference in which different schools were to share with each other the problems and shortcuts to preparing a more efficient yearbook and school newspaper.

With the money earned from a dance, the Quill and Scroll members went to a movie then later attended a dinner at a nice restaurant, and held their annual initiation.

Honor Society Initiates 45 New Members

New members were initiated into the National Honor Society in February. Juniors and seniors with a 4.2 accumulative average are considered. Members are selected on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

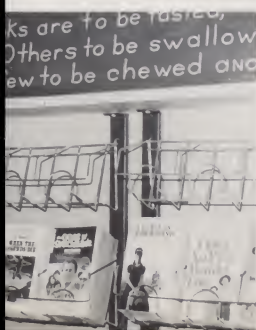

The lighting of the four candles representing the four areas was one of the major parts of the initiation ceremony.

Entertainment at the initiation was provided by Bonnie Luebbert, who did a jazz routine, and by Brian Beljanski and Cheska Anselmo who performed a comedy duet. Four band members also played several songs.

Throughout the year, members ran a bookstore in the cafeteria during lunch hours, selling books to students at discount prices.

Touchstone, the students' literary magazine is sponsored and edited by a staff of National Honor Society members. Editor-in-chief for this year was Susan Hunsinger.

High World Keeps Student Body Informed

The High World Staff worked vigorously throughout the year keeping the student body informed of current scholastic, athletic, and social events. Week after week, the staff members measured headlines, designed layouts, photographed subjects, and wrote copy to meet deadlines.

To learn how to do this, Ms. Johnson, sponsor, along with staff members Kathy Mushill and Kathy Small, attended the Southern Illinois School Press Association Convention at S.I.U. Carbondale's School of Journalism.

As Editor-in-Chief, Kathy Mushill worked with Ms. Johnson to select stories for the final edition. Then it became the responsibility of sectional editors, Ed Webb, Tori Whitehead, Nancy Weil, and Kathy Small to design their pages to fit the stories and pictures assigned.

Deadlines Make Life Frustrating

Once again, the Warrior Yearbook staff managed to put together another yearbook. Since the photography contract was awarded to Favour Barr, proofs and film had to be mailed back and forth. But the staff did manage to continue writing copy, drawing layouts, taking, identifying, and cropping pictures.

With the help of the new typewriter and new flash for the camera, work went rather smoothly. Those two items were purchased with the profit from selling Warrior T-shirts.

Editor Paul Evans, Eldon Warfield, Lisa Steele, Carol Wilson, Beth Ripper, and Jolene Mushill attended a week-long seminar at the University of Wisconsin at Whitewater during the summer.

Senior Editors Face Challenges

Under the leadership of the editor-in-chief, senior editors not only complete their sections, but they also assist in important decisions that are made. Some of those decisions involve the theme, design, color, and print style of the yearbook.

Although not everyone can be editor-in-chief, each student is vital in the production of the Warrior yearbook. Without cooperation among members, deadlines would not be met.

A yearbook is not just for graduating seniors but records activities of all classes. Although the yearbook is carried from class to class for a week and then placed on a shelf, its real value will not be appreciated for several years. As an adult, one may relive his youthful experiences each time he looks through the pages of his yearbook.

Graduation Brings New Experiences

Although seniors count the days to graduation, are they really ready to leave the carefree days of high school? Partying becomes a way of life for many departing seniors. Graduation night is accompanied by another night-long party, but it also signifies the end to many relationships. To the graduates seeking a job, it is a whole new way of life, but the college-bound student can continue in a similar environment.

It will be difficult to forget the memories that one has gathered at South. Senior foods was a relief for many boys and girls, who were bogged down with tough classes. One of those tough classes was Senior Composition, where the required term paper took much time. As one sat in class, there was also the worry of what to do about the future. Many seniors made frequent visits to their counselor.

To the many who will continue to live in Granite, there will always be memories brought back by a glimpse of the high school while passing by; but for those who leave, the yearbook will furnish fond memories.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.1 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 85 and over has increased by 0.5 million.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people and to ensure that they are able to live independently for as long as possible.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people are able to live independently for as long as possible; (2) to ensure that older people are able to participate in the life of the community; and (3) to ensure that older people are able to live in the place of their choice.

The strategy is based on the following assumptions: (1) that older people are a valuable resource; (2) that older people are able to live independently for as long as possible; and (3) that older people are able to participate in the life of the community.

Student Council Keeps Busy This Spring

This year student council members kept busy by doing various projects around the school. One of the major projects was the redecoration of the library. Student council provided funds and the building trades classes did the work. By papering the walls and hanging drapes, the boys brightened the library.

To alleviate the boredom of daily classes, the student council celebrated national snow cone week. During lunch hours students could purchase a cool, refreshing snow cone for 25 cents. Student council also sponsored the May Festival and a spring assembly.

Elections were held near the end of the year. The president's post went to Cindy Zelenka, who took the oath of office at the spring senior recognition assembly.

We May Never Pass This Way Again

Fresh spring flowers and colorful balloons decorated the Meridian ballroom at SIU on April 23 as 152 couples gathered to begin the senior prom sponsored by student council. To enter, the couples passed through an archway of flowers, depicting the theme.

A champagne glass was given to each girl with the theme "We May Never Pass This Way Again" etched on it. Before the dancing began, a Swiss steak dinner was served. Everyday People provided music from 8:30 until 12:00.

Door prizes such as an FM converter were given to lucky students every hour.

May Festival Holds Sweet Memories

Parents and friends of senior girls were entertained at the second annual May Festival. This year's festival bore the theme "The Hands of Time." The evening opened with the national anthem played by Phil Whitehead, and the announcing of the May Queen, Lisa St. Cln, by Mr. Dumont. For the first time, the choice of the queen was kept secret until moments before the program began.

Under the direction of Student Council, the May Festival this year, as last, was produced to honor the May Queen and girls of the graduating class. Soliciting talent from many departments, the Student Council organized a varied program, including the popular jazz dancers, the Madrigals, the stage band, and skits by the advanced speech class.

The festival activities concluded with the traditional May Pole dance, a candlelight ceremony and song. The song "I'll See You Again" reminded all the girls that high school days were almost over.

Mame Coaxes Blues Right Out of South

This spring Mrs. Scroggins directed the well-known musical Mame. Mrs. Bright and Mr. Waffler arranged the musical score as Mrs. Pennell choreographed the dances. The seniors were treated to an afternoon performance; the first time this has happened.

Mame Dennis, played by Diane Lewis, was a wealthy eccentric. Mame's nephew, Patrick, played by Tim and Greg Powderly, came to stay with her. In order to prove to her nephew that she is a worthwhile individual, she unsuccessfully tries to find a steady job.

Highlighting the performance were the unusual sets such as a suspended moon created by Mrs. Weiss and her advanced art students.

In addition, the unusual dance steps pleased the audience.

Warriors Make Debut At New Complex

The Warrior nine ended with a fine 23-7 season behind the fantastic pitching of Paul Evans and Eldon Warfield. Evans finished his season with ten wins and two losses with an ERA of 1.59. Warfield ended with five wins and one loss and an ERA of 1.67.

John Lakin led the team with a batting average of .422 with nine doubles. Not far behind him with a .378 average, Tom Hennrich compiled 34 hits and 19 RBI's to finish second in hitting and first in RBI's.

Warrior senior players were the first to have been under the coaching of Babe Champion since their freshman year. The seniors' record totaled 69 wins and 24 losses.

Individual players worked on the new baseball-soccer complex to improve the facility. Watering and raking were a workout as well as the practice.

Technical skills were emphasized. Hours were spent on defensive drills and situations. In addition, the players learned respect for others, especially Coach Champion and his staff.

Freshman Sets Two New Track Records

Having an excellent season, Dave Houston set two new freshman records while running varsity. In the one and two mile runs, he set the new records with times of 4:44 and 10:01 respectively. He was also voted most outstanding freshman.

The other award winners were Dave Mahaffey, most outstanding sophomore; Bert Houston, most improved fieldman; Jim Dumont, most improved trackman; and Scott Cathey, most valuable player.

Qualifying for state, Jay Huebner placed third in the shot put at the ISHA class AA District track meet held at Highland.

The coaches each had specific duties with Coach Miller coaching long distance runners, Sullivan shot and discus, Beck sprinters, and Bunting field events. Since the team had few seniors with past experience, the coaching job was more strenuous this year.

A track meet is often difficult for a spectator to view since several events occur at the same time; however, it is really quite organized.

Girls Set Seven School Records

The 1977 girls track team improved greatly. Sandy Schreiber demolished 2 school records in the mile run: 6 minutes and 17 seconds, and in the 2 mile run, 14 minutes and 18 seconds. Throwing the discus, Cindy Jackovich set a record of 95 feet, 7½ inches. Junior Dannia DePew leaped the 110 hurdles in 17.7 seconds.

Team efforts also won stardom.

Cindy Cunningham, Jan Purkey, Mary Bigham, and Linda Bell captured a new record of 55.4 in the 440 yard relay. Judy Click teamed with Cunningham, Bigham and Bell for a smashing 1:57.1 in the 880 yard relay. Then Sandy Robinson combined with Bigham, Click and Cunningham for a 2:04 880 medley relay record.

Entire Team Heads for State

The varsity tennis team had a very successful year by winning districts and advancing to state competition held at Arlington Heights. Juniors Ron Backs and Tom Boker went undefeated in the districts and won the doubles championship.

At districts, held at South, Mike Papes won third in singles. Finishing the year with a 14-4 season, the team beat last year's record.

Since tennis is rapidly increasing in popularity, more boys tried out for the team than ever before. In fact, Coach Harmon was forced to cut some players.

Tennis is one of the few sports in which the coach coaches both the varsity and the freshman-sophomore teams. This makes Mr. Harmon's job somewhat more difficult when he has to leave one team to go to the other team's match.

Seniors Given Recognition At Assembly

Seniors finally received their much deserved credit for many accomplishments on Senior Recognition Day. Awards were given for scholastic ability, leadership, school spirit, music, sports, and special achievements. Frank Reid was announced as the valedictorian and Carol Beth Potillo as the salutatorian.

More praise was given to some than others, but all have worked hard. Extra effort and extra hours paid off in scholarships, awards, and most important, the diploma.

Granite City Scholarship Foundation winners were Jo Ann Barco, Tina Benson, Dan Bowers, Ralph Causey, Enid Cox, Lynn Diak, Juli

Domitrovich, Debbie Griffin, Marsha Mainer, Vince Martinez, Chris McBee, David Rhodes, Melody Roseman, and Renee White.

Jo Ann Barco and Enid Cox won the American Federation of Teachers scholarships, and David Gaines and Beth Potillo were given the American Legion awards.

Miss Helen Kuentler awarded two $300 scholarships, in memory of her father, to Enid Cox and Glenda Calvin, both planning to enter nursing school next fall.

South can be proud of its students, freshmen through seniors, who bring many honors to the school.

Senior School Days Turn To Memories

Total chaos accompanied graduating seniors the last few weeks of school. To signify the ending of high school days, seniors were fitted for caps and gowns the beginning of May. With the arrival of announcements came misprints in the graduation date. This proved to be very confusing for busy seniors as volunteering parents addressed the announcements and left out the corrected date card.

Whether cramming for last minute exams or putting the final touch to required term papers, all seniors found ample time to reminisce with old friends. Winning state in soccer, beating North in football, attending the last school dance and reviewing Homecoming week were only few discussions soon to become memories.
